

Health in All Policies: A Tool to Promote the Social Determinants of Health and Health Equity

Julia Caplan, MPP, MPH

Project Lead, Health in All Policies Task Force

Public Health Institute

in partnership with

California Department of Public Health

Acknowledgements

- California's Health in All Policies Task Force
- Public Health Institute
- California Department of Public Health
- California Strategic Growth Council

With funding from The California Endowment, American Public Health Association, Kaiser Community Benefits, and Community Transformation Grants

Health in All Policies: 5 Key Elements

Promotes health, equity, and sustainability

Supports intersectoral collaboration

Benefits multiple partners

Engages external stakeholders

Creates structural or process change

Health in All Policies Relationships Rely Upon...

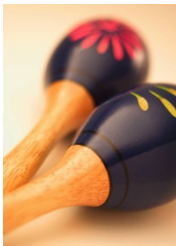

Co-benefits

Trust

Mutuality

Reciprocity

Example from California: Healthy Food Procurement Policies

Government partners: Public Health, General Services (contracts), Corrections, Rehabilitation, Veteran's Affairs, Aging

1. Co-benefits
2. Trust
3. Mutuality
4. Reciprocity

Example from California: School Gardens & School Facilities Inspections

Government partners: Public Health, Education, Food & Agriculture

1. Co-benefits
2. Trust
3. Mutuality
4. Reciprocity

Example from California: School Land Use Decisions

Government partners: Public Health, Planning & Research, Education, Transportation, Air Quality, Strategic Growth Council

1. Co-benefits
2. Trust
3. Mutuality
4. Reciprocity

Contact Information

Julia Caplan, Project Lead for the California Health in All Policies Task Force

Julia.caplan@cdph.ca.gov

www.phi.org/resources/hiap

www.sgc.ca.gov/hiap

www.cdph.ca.gov/hiap