THE APHA CENTER FOR PUBLIC HEALTH POLICY highlights the connections between communities — where we live, work, play and learn — and our collective health. We serve as a catalyst for positive change by strengthening public health capacity to advance health equity. With an experienced staff and a vast network of diverse partners, we create informative and solutions-oriented tools and resources that support APHA's vision of optimal, equitable health and well-being for all.

THE CENTER FOR PUBLIC HEALTH POLICY'S work is organized around the following core priorities: health and racial equity, environmental health and justice, and public health and education. We advance policies and practices to address the social determinants of health and equity through:

- ➡ POLICY RESEARCH, ANALYSIS AND TRANSLATION: We bridge the gap between research and practice through reports, guidebooks, factsheets, webinars and other tools and resources.
- ➡ ADVOCACY: We leverage public health research, practice and communications to drive action in public policy that centers the needs and priorities of those most impacted by health inequities.
- ➡ CAPACITY BUILDING: We provide training and technical assistance to strengthen the capacity of public health professionals to embed principles of equity and justice in their work.
- ➡ PARTNERSHIPS AND CONVENING: We bring together diverse and multidisciplinary actors to advance comprehensive, equitable and sustainable solutions to improve public health.

Our work is grounded in equity, inclusion and belonging. We are dedicated to staying on top of the latest public health issues and creating the tools you need to advocate for strong public health policies and practices in your community.
